

STATE CHAMBER PLANS NEW ERA FOR GEORGIA

Next Important Step Is to Name Secretary, Only
Salaried Office

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
MACON, Ga., Sept. 17.—Now that the Georgia chamber of commerce has formally launched, officers elected, the next place of meeting decided upon and a sufficient sum of money raised to begin work, all eyes are turned upon the executive committee, eager to hear choice for secretary, the only salaried office in the organization.

While the president and vice presidents were elected by the delegates the matter of naming a secretary was left entirely at the discretion of this committee. For the opening convention, M. S. Powell, of Columbus, was selected to fill the place for that one session.

Charles J. Haden, of Atlanta, was unanimously elected to head the state chamber, and was enthusiastically greeted by the delegates and the press. Haden is a well-known business man and a new era in Georgia. He has been a member of the Georgia chamber of commerce for several years and has been a delegate to the annual convention of the Georgia chamber of commerce for several years.

And they were men who were willing to back up their convictions with real money. When the call for the first assembly at this time was made, there was a veritable stampede in the chamber to get on the roll of honor. Five thousand dollars could have been raised just as easily and in very little longer time. Eugene E. Strawn, president of the Macon chamber, started the ball rolling with a subscription of $20, and was followed with a like amount by William L. Moore, of Atlanta.

As the delegates pledged themselves to personally finance the chamber and a large part of the first subscription was secured from the members of the chamber, the members of the chamber were received amid the wildest enthusiasm. Each subscription was met with a renewed outburst of applause.

In entertaining the visitors Macon did herself proud. Nothing was left unturned for their comfort. The chamber was most cordial and most cordially received. The evening and afternoon sessions a delightful luncheon was served in the Hotel Danmore hall.

Before adjournment, the convention voted to meet here again in January for the purpose of getting down to active business and also for the future activities of the state chamber.

Treasury Secretary May Come Imported Photos and Pictures

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Compromise between senate and house conferees whereby cotton grain bags used in the west and "press cloths" of ramie hair used in the cotton seed oil mills of the south, will both go to the tariff free list, is expected late today.

The conferees today agreed to the compromise free list on photographic films and giving the secretary of the treasury power to control all imported photographic plates, plates or pictures. The senate rates on photographic apparatus were slightly reduced.

The more important differences between the two houses on all features of the tariff bill are still to be considered, and it is believed the conferees will not end before the early part of next week.

BANKERS' ASSOCIATION GATHERS AT RICHMOND

Secretary Bryan and Senator Theodore E. Burton to Make Addresses
(By Associated Press.)
RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 17.—President Bryan W. Moore called the American Institute of Banking to order. J. C. O'Connell and the convention was welcomed by Governor Mann, Mayor Allen, and by Tanswell M. Carrington, president of the chamber of commerce.

Fred M. Crandall, chairman of the bank men's executive committee, responded. Fred E. Farnsworth, general secretary of the American Bankers' association, expressed the greetings of that organization.

President Moore then delivered his annual address. Richmond chapter has scheduled an elaborate program of entertainment for the visitors.

Secretary of State Bryan and Senator Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, are expected to address the convention tomorrow.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
TACOMA, Ga., Sept. 17.—Dan Cupid and the Elberton train did not meet here yesterday, acted as peacemaker between Carl Barker, well-known traveling salesman of Gainesville, and Miss Lucy Purcell, student at Brenau college, daughter of one of the most prominent families of Cornville, Ga. Induced them to "make up" a lovers' quarrel, conducted them to a minister's house, and this morning a new wedding was on a honeymoon that, it is believed, will include Europe.

Miss Purcell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Purcell, one of the prettiest girls in town and was a favorite socially. The groom is a student at the University of Georgia, and of valuable real estate in Gainesville and its vicinity. The couple had been engaged since early this summer, but it was not until yesterday that they decided to make up their quarrel. They had parted a few days before after a typical lovers' spat. The quarrel was made up and it was decided to marry at once, school or no school.

NEW YORK SENATE TO ACT ON SULZER CASE

This Week Sees Impeachment
Trial Stated in New York's
General Assembly

(By Associated Press.)
ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Acting Governor Glynn and the executive board were not too hopeful today that a sufficient number of assemblymen would be present tonight, when the state legislature will take up the impeachment of the state finance commissioner, Charles D. Sulzer.

As the delegates pledged themselves to personally finance the chamber and a large part of the first subscription was secured from the members of the chamber, the members of the chamber were received amid the wildest enthusiasm. Each subscription was met with a renewed outburst of applause.

In entertaining the visitors Macon did herself proud. Nothing was left unturned for their comfort. The chamber was most cordial and most cordially received. The evening and afternoon sessions a delightful luncheon was served in the Hotel Danmore hall.

MINE OFFICERS PREPARE FOR THREATENED STRIKE

Order Probably Will Be Issued
Tuesday, Affecting Southern Colorado

(By Associated Press.)
TRINIDAD, Col., Sept. 17.—Officials of the miners' union and operators were busy arranging to meet the situation that threatened to develop with the calling of the proposed strike next Tuesday, the date fixed by the United Mine Workers of America convention of District 15.

Among the miners' demands are recognition of the union; 10 per cent wage advance based on tonnage raised; 10 per cent wage advance for coke oven workers; eight-hour day for all classes of labor; check welchmen at all mines; the right to trade at any store; select their own boarding places and choose their own physician; abolition of the guard system.

Mine officials stated today that the strike order when issued probably will be directed only to men employed in the southern Colorado fields, but that eventually it will be extended to all mines in District No. 15, comprising the states of Colorado, Utah and New Mexico.

GENERAL OTIS OBJECT OF BOMB PLOT AGAIN

California Saved From Infernal
Machine by Watchful
Jap Servant

(By Associated Press.)
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 17.—General Harrison Gray Otis, owner of the Los Angeles Times, received an infernal machine by mail yesterday. It was the second time within three years that General Otis' life had been attempted by a bomb.

Any chance of his being killed or injured by the bomb was foiled by the watchfulness of General Otis' Japanese servant, who became suspicious of the package and called his employer's attention to it.

The first infernal machine sent to General Otis was found at his residence a few hours after his newspaper plant had been destroyed through the efforts of the McNamara conspirators.

The attempt on his life today was attributed by the general to agencies friendly to those whose conspiracy resulted in the destruction of the Times building and the killing of twenty-one men three years ago.

The police and postal authorities, however, believed that the Mexican question probably had a part in it.

General Otis is largely interested in lands in the Mexican territory of Lower California, where two years ago Industrial Workers of the World joined the "direct action" element of Mexicans in an effort to establish a socialistic commonwealth.

A few weeks ago there was an outbreak, caused, according to reports, by the employment of Chinese in the place of Mexican laborers by ranchers in Lower California. General Otis asserted at the time that none were employed by him.

The bomb reached the "Bivouac" General Otis' home, at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. It was contained in a small package five inches long, three inches wide and two inches deep, wrapped in brown paper.

With other mail, it was given by the postman to the Japanese servant. He removed the wrapping paper before taking it to General Otis and told the general that he thought there was something suspicious about the package.

"I pool-poohed the boy's belief at first," said General Otis. "But, when the boy removed the thing and asked the police department to send a man with my name."

Captain F. B. Felt, a powder expert in the police department, took the machine to a field near the Los Angeles river, where he tried open the box. He found the matches fixed to the inside of the cover in such a way that if they were opened they would have ribbed against pieces of sandpaper and ignited.

TAGS ORDERED FOR STATE'S AUTO CARS

25,000 Coming, and It Is Believed More Will Be Needed Under New Law

Twenty-five thousand tags have been ordered for Georgia's automobile registration under the new law, effective January 1, which requires every car to get a new license every year.

Secretary of State Phil Cook believes that the number may not be sufficient to get through.

"We have passed the 25,000 mark now on the books under the old law," said he yesterday. "Of course there are very many duplications in that long list, but I believe the duplications will be more than offset by the number of tags which never have been licensed by the state. The old law has been in effect only in several parts of this state, because there was no provision for the county officers to enforce it. The new law will be enforced better. It offers that inducement to get a new license which is collected by the county clerk."

The new tags will be very much like the present ones, except that the year "1913" will show in the lower right hand corner. The first consignment of 10,000 is to be delivered December 1st. They were purchased through Arthur Wiley, of Atlanta, from the manufacturer, S. H. Quince Sons of Philadelphia.

This Exam for P. O.
Inspector Would Try
Old Man Job Himself

No man need shirk ambition to become a postoffice inspector unless he has the patience of Job.

At least that's the way it looks when the civil service examiner gets through asking about all the requirements. For inspectors position, three applicants having the tenacity to try for a post office.

There are now three inspectors' vacancies in this division, and if the applicants are lucky, and the red tape is unwound in time, they may secure the position.

In the first place, applicants for an inspector's job must have served the postoffice department for four years; secondly, they must be recommended for examination, thirdly, they must stand the examination, which is the hardest in the civil service.

Then the examiner must figure up their averages, after which he reports to the civil service commission. The commission then reports to the post office department at Washington. The postoffice department refers the matter to the chief postoffice inspector. The postoffice inspector reports to the postoffice general, and after these, and a few other preliminaries, the applicant and the vacancy may come together.

CHIEF CUMMINGS BACK FROM CHIEFS' MEETING

Says in Absence Somebody Got Him Hatched Up as "Powerful Active Politician"

Fire Chief W. B. Cummings is back from the annual fire chiefs' convention held in New York, after which he took a vacation trip to Thousand Islands and down the Great Lakes.

One of the most interesting features of the convention, the chief says, was the test of the different makes of automobile fire engines.

A long dock was rented for the test, and the engines were lined up along it. At 6:30 in the morning the word was given, every engine started to pump and they ran for twelve hours without a stop. A committee representing the National Fire Underwriters was keeping tab both on the amount of water pumped and the fuel consumed. Every time an engine would put a little oil on its engine, a committee would jot it down.

This was according to Chief Cummings, was won by the Ahrens-Fox engine, on which the city of Atlanta was given a bid in the recent competitive bidding when an auto engine was purchased for the new Tenth ward station.

"While I was gone," the chief said laughingly, "the Underwriters met with Mayor Woodward as fighting the new law, which will take the fire insurance companies out of the hands of friends as being strange. Also they got into a certain athletic race to be a very active extent. When I got back I found myself one of the busiest politicians in the city, according to the tall story around."

His scholarship was won by his excellent record in the city, according to the tall story around.

TWO HURT IN WRECK OF
AUTO ON BUCKHEAD ROAD

Mrs. Georgia N. G. Graham Hurt—O. G. Putnam Escapes Without Injury

Mrs. Georgia N. G. Graham, a stenographer, giving her address as 88 West Georgia avenue, was slightly injured about the face and shoulders in an automobile accident on the Buckhead road thirteen miles from Atlanta Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock. Another occupant of the car, who told County Police Officer E. B. Haynie that his name was King, sustained a slight injury to the shoulder. O. G. Putnam, the third member of the party, escaped unscathed. The automobile, a two-seated runabout, was damaged to such an extent that it could not proceed under its own power. The accident occurred at a turn in the road near Roswell. The car skidded and plunged into the curb. Mrs. Graham was thrown against the windshield and sustained minor cuts to her face by broken glass. One or two teeth were knocked out, according to physicians who attended her.

The injured woman was brought toward Atlanta four miles to the home of Dr. G. D. Chapman, who attended her injuries. The Grady ambulance then was called to bring her to the city. Soon after she reached the hospital Mrs. Graham had recovered so that she was able to take a cab to her home.

The party was on a fishing trip to the Chattahoochee river, one of the members told County Police Officer Haynie. Mrs. Graham, following the accident, gave her name as Miss Reynolds. She changed this later at the Grady hospital, however.

$1,500, a year. Mr. Towson possessed A. B. and A. M. degrees from Emory. He is the third representative of that college to attend the convention. He will sail from Boston this week for England.

SAGE TEA PUTS LIFE AND COLOR IN HAIR

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally That Nobody Can Tell

You can turn gray, faded hair beautiful again if you'll get a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur hair Remedy at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually. It is a well-known drugstore here, because it darkens the hair, restores natural color, and no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin, who are losing their hair, because of one or two applications, the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all without cost, scalp itching and falling hair.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, wrinkled faces do not seem wanted around. So get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur hair Remedy. It is so simple and so effective that it is the only hair tonic with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Men & Women Who Appreciate the Beauty & Serviceability of Fine Oriental Rugs Are Invited to Share in the Annual Fall Sale of Oriental Rugs

With Its Unquestioned Savings of a Fifth to a Third

—New connections established with the largest and foremost dealers in Oriental Rugs in America make this Annual Sale of Oriental Rugs an event of rare importance to lovers of Oriental Rugs.

—Because the unusual assemblage of rugs holds for them a rich store of delight, furnishing inspiration to the finer setting of their homes.

—Because the prices are a fifth to a third less than we could, or would, customarily ask.

—The importers we spoke of seek a larger volume of business. To induce us to buy more rugs than we usually sell, they make us decisive price concessions.

—We also seek a larger volume of business. The price concessions we received we pass on to you. Also we forego part of our own profits. In a sale wherein we dispose of hundreds of rugs, the aggregate profits justify a modest profit on individual rugs otherwise impossible. Though these rugs are art treasures, we treat them as regular merchandise—pricing them an exceedingly thin margin of profit.

—The addition of these many new rugs to our stock forces a price revision downward on the many other rugs in stock. Their new price tickets read from a fifth to a third less than formerly, the greater reductions being on odd numbers.

—Most of the rugs in the sale group themselves under one of these headings and sizes:

SHIRVANS—light shades and designs, about 3½x6 ft.
MOUSSOUIS—Small all-over and medallion patterns, 5x4 ft.
BELOOCHISTANS—deep, rich, dark red colorings, 3x5 ft.

IRAN—Genuine timed mellowed antiques, 4x7 to 5x8 ft.
KIRMANSHAH—of surpassing beauty and excellence, 4x5 ft.
SAROUKS—softer and deeper tinted than Kirmanshahs, 4x7 ft.

Rugs for Hall Strips
Include rich, mellow patterns in the handsome Irans, Caraghans, Hamadans and Kurdistans. Sizes 3x10 feet to 4x15 feet.

PRICES—Persian rugs are unlike other merchandise. Prices mean nothing until you see the rugs. Therefore, we have purposely omitted prices. Savings, however, generally run about like this: $15 from $20; $24 from $30; $20 from $30 in several odd rugs; $40 from $50; $67.50 from $85; $110 and $115 from $150.

COMMISSIONER PRICE NOW STRONG FOR OLD GEORGIA

Boll Weevil's a Real Menace, He Says, Warning Farmers to Get Ready

"I'm a convert to the menace of the boll weevil," acknowledged J. D. Price, commissioner of agriculture, in his first Tuesday morning. He had returned Monday from a trip through Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, where the boll weevil has been having things his own way with the cotton crop for a while. He had visited the country, and had walked through devastated fields where the plants grow seven feet high with not enough cotton on them to pay for the plowing.

"I used to think the boll weevil was a sort of a bower—that he had been pulled in here by the state. Now I know he's a sure enough menace. He's coming, as certain as destiny. He's not much longer getting to Georgia. And Georgia must get ready for him."

"If the boll weevil should appear in the cotton fields of Georgia tomorrow, he would throw the state into a panic. People wouldn't know what to do. We would be like the state of Texas. We'd go broke. We'd sell our rich farms for $5 an acre, and pull out, plumb busted. That's what we've got to bear in mind. We simply must profit by the example of other folks, and not get caught unprepared like they were. If we are prepared, the boll weevil will think Georgia a mighty unfriendly state."

"Let's begin right now to get ready." The commissioner talked earnestly. The things that he saw in the boll weevil country had impressed him immensely. He had talked there with farmers, renters and land owners with business men, bankers and others. From everywhere he learned, said he, that the boll weevil spreads disaster, but that any other disaster it amounts to little if one only prepares to meet it. The first step is the real one. Withstand that, and the rest is easy.

Just as the coming makes the farmer diversify his crops and make his farm self-supporting, now, as the boll weevil jolts the old-fashioned "cotton-and-nothing-else" farmer away from his unthinking and improvident way of farming—just to that extent, says the commissioner, the weevil is a blessing in disguise.

Mr. Price familiarized himself at first hand, on the very ground, with the habits and work of the boll weevil. In order that he may administer intelligently the legislature's plan for relieving the shock upon Georgia farmers when the boll weevil does cross the border a few months hence.

"The weevil won't touch a thing but cotton squares," said he, Tuesday. "You can raise everything else all around him but he sticks to the cotton. Therefore the way to combat him is to plant other things, plant grains, for foodstuff. Raise hogs. Make your own living on your own farm. Then, for such little money as you need after you've already got your living out of the farm, raise cotton; raise less of it, and work harder on it, and keep the boll weevil picked off, and work it about twice as often, and make it mature early. Begin diversifying crops and raising hogs and cattle right now. Begin it. Get ready before the boll weevil comes. Don't wait till he's here."

The commissioner reiterated what he telegraphed several days ago—that Georgia looks mighty good to him. Georgia, said he, with two big cotton areas, and with a 2,000,000-bale cotton crop, and with cotton certain to go to 15 cents (in his opinion), and with plenty of small grain—Georgia, said he, looks good after what he's seen.

ATLANTA BOY ELECTED ON HARVARD PUBLICATION

Bernard Ellis Riddell, an Atlanta boy at Harvard, has been chosen by the Harvard Law school for one of the highest honors within its gift—an associate editorship on the Harvard Law Review, published monthly by the law department of the university.

Young Riddell is the son of C. P. Riddell of Atlanta. He graduated from the Boy's High school of the city in the class of 1907, and from the University of Georgia in the class of 1911. He will graduate from Harvard with three years of law, next winter.

Boydin Wright, Jr., of Augusta, who was a member of the staff of the Law Review last year, has been reelected for another year.

JUDGE'S QUESTION GETS "TIGER" NEW TRIAL

Because the judge in the city court of Brunswick asked the material witness in a liquor case the "Did you not testify to the grand jury that you purchased liquor from the defendant?" that defendant, convicted as a "blind" seller, and sentenced for violating the state prohibition law, will get a new trial.

The state court of appeals seen in the question the expression of an opinion by the judge, and therefore the whole thing is ordered to be done over again. The rights of the defendant not having been protected properly—according to the court. The case is that of Bo Murphy vs. the state. The court of appeals voted its opinion Tuesday.

BOLLING JONES GOOD LUCK HORSESHOE

Bolling Jones, the new postmaster, received many flowers on the first day of his postmastership; but the emblem of good luck above contained the most precious, and expressed the good will of the Atlanta Freight Bureau, the Merchants and Manufacturers' association and the Atlanta Credit Men's association. The horseshoe on its stand is about five feet tall.

ROSWELL MERCHANT TO FACE THE RECORDER

M. Meckory, a merchant of Roswell, will be tried by City Recorder N. R. Boyles Wednesday afternoon on a charge of running into the city with an automobile and slightly injuring W. G. Shaw, of 35 Place street, Tuesday night. The accident occurred at Decatur street and Piedmont avenue. Meckory is at liberty under a $100 bond.

Shaw sustained only minor injuries. He was knocked to the ground by the automobile. He was taken to the Grady hospital. He left that institution for his home an hour later, after his injuries had been attended.

ROYAL BUTLER SUES WIFE FOR DIVORCE

Royal E. Butler, of 75 East Park street, has filed suit in the superior court against Mrs. Margaret Wilby Butler, his bride of less than a year, for divorce, alleging cruel treatment. Butler's leading allegation is that when angry his wife would strike him with her clenched fist. She landed her blows, the husband asserts, on the most vulnerable part of his anatomy, namely, a point where he had been operated upon before by physicians. Butler declares that his bride has kept him in constant terror for his life.

MISSING GIRL FOUND AT BROTHER'S HOME

Elsie Nix, aged sixteen, who disappeared from her home, 625 Chestnut street, last Saturday, is at the home of her brother, a few miles beyond the town of Birmingham, Ga. This information was received from James Nix, her brother, by Chief of Police Beavers Wednesday morning and the detectives ceased the search which for two days they instituted for the girl. Miss Nix was employed as a telephone operator at the Southern Bell exchange. Last Saturday she left home to go to work as usual. She did not appear at the switchboard, however, and was not seen again until a chauffeur met her trudging along the road a few miles from Roswell Tuesday. It is believed that the girl walked a good portion of the distance to her brother's home.

STONE MOUNTAIN JUDGE STILL ACTS IN FULTON

Present Judges of Superior Court Will Probably Recommend Such in Conference

A discussion of the "judicial situation" in the Atlanta circuit among attorneys and members of the board of county commissioners has developed the fact that it is not improbable that the judge of the Stone Mountain circuit will continue to sit in Fulton county.

The entire matter rests with the present judges of the superior court and as yet they have held no conference. The act creating the fourth judge of the Stone Mountain circuit follows exactly the language of the act creating the third judge, now held by Judge George L. Bell.

While it has been generally conceded that the fourth judge, Judge Benjamin H. Hill, now of the court of appeals, would sit entirely on criminal cases, and that the judge of the Stone Mountain circuit would be relieved of duty in this county, this is not certain.

General Clifford L. Anderson, of the board of county commissioners, has pointed out that there is nothing in the act that prescribes what branch of the superior court work Judge Hill will perform over and over again. In the act which automatically discontinued the work of the Stone Mountain judge in this circuit.

The county commissioners can notify the judge of the Stone Mountain circuit, who after October 1 will be C. S. Reid, that his services here are no longer needed, and this will cut off the $2,000 extra salary which this county has been paying the Stone Mountain judge. So the county commissioners can request him to continue to devote a portion of his time to the work in this circuit and continue his salary.

Judge Reid, like Judge L. S. Roan in the past, would have several weeks a term which he could devote to this circuit, and there is little doubt that he would accept the extra work if it is offered him.

That the judges of the superior court, when they meet in conference, will seriously consider recommending that the judge of the Stone Mountain circuit continue to assist in the work here, there is no doubt.

The civil docket of the superior court, as just suggested as the criminal docket, and attorneys say that it requires about ten months to get a hearing for any new suit which does not contain a motion. In other words, the courts are about ten months behind with business.

Should the three old judges of this circuit desire the assistance of another judge in the civil division, then it is said that the new judge will hear civil business part of the time and criminal business when the judge of the Stone Mountain circuit is unable to preside in that division.

The county commissioners are expected to meet the judges of the superior court to decide the matter before the late of October when Judge Hill will take his seat.

ALL SUNDAY SCHOOLS IN RALLY DAY SUNDAY

Attendance Rivalry Leads Up to Big Mass Meeting Next Sunday Afternoon

A city-wide Sunday school rally day, with a mass meeting for teachers at all denominations in the afternoon, was planned Tuesday night by the Atlanta Sunday School Superintendents' conference at its monthly meeting and the date of the big rally was set for October 5.

Atlanta's Sunday schools have been in friendly rivalry with each other in the matter of attendance practically all year. That rivalry has led up to this rally day, with which is expected to begin the winter activities of Sunday schools in Atlanta. Superintendents in each school is to be stirred well in advance of rally day. Dr. Martin Ball, who presided over the meeting of the superintendents' conference Tuesday night, said that the North Avenue Sunday school plans to hold a rally day on the first of October. The conference will meet the week preceding October 1, at the First Baptist church, to plan the rally day, with which is expected to begin the winter activities of Sunday schools in Atlanta. GEORGIA TRACKS MAY BE USED BY THE SEABOARD

Arrangement, If Perfect--
Would Bring All Through
Trains Into Atlanta

A traffic arrangement, by which the Seaboard Air Line railway may use the tracks of the Georgia railroad for operating its passenger trains to and from the Union depot, is said to be under consideration by the officials of the two lines. While official confirmation is lacking, it is understood that such an arrangement has been under consideration for several weeks.

The many years the Seaboard's main line has followed the tracks of the Georgia railroad, operating its passenger trains into the Union depot, over the tracks of the state road. This arrangement has long been a subject of discussion, but it was not until the traffic arrangement was made with the Western and Atlantic, that the former passenger track is being used as a belt line for freight.

Should an agreement be reached with the Georgia railroad, the Seaboard will operate its passenger trains over the tracks of the Georgia railroad from Union depot to the Union depot. The present passenger line, which runs northward from North Decatur to Union depot, will be used for freight instead of passenger trains, and all passenger trains will enter the Union depot from the east over the Georgia tracks, giving a mileage of almost half, from the main line at North Decatur to Atlanta.

Such an arrangement has been asked by the Seaboard for a number of years. During the administration of former President W. A. Garrett, of the Seaboard, the agreement was almost perfected, but certain officials of the Georgia road objected. It is claimed that there has been a change in the policy of the Georgia road, and the Seaboard Air Line would not be compelled to back its trains into the Union depot, but would be operated directly through the Union depot.

CONFLICTING DECISIONS BY COURTS SHALL STAND

So Rule State Court of Appeals and Supreme Court in Telephone Case

A decision by the state court of appeals in conflict with a later decision by the state supreme court shall stand, say both courts because of its priority in time. The decision of the state court of appeals in the case of Southern Bell Telephone company vs. J. L. Glawson, from Atlanta, handed down Tuesday, the court of appeals pronounced this law upon the authority of the supreme court. Mr. Glawson and the telephone company for damages because when his wife was despatched by him was unable to get the telephone connection which might have brought the doctor out in time to save her. A demurrer was sustained in the court at Atlanta, but the court of appeals reversed the judgment and ordered the case to be tried. The verdict was for $5,000 damages against the company. The company appealed, and the court of appeals reversed the judgment, declaring that the telephone company is obligated to use only ordinary care in serving its patrons and that inasmuch as the petitioning Mr. Glawson had a horse and buggy in his stable and a grown son to use them, he should have called for the doctor and not depended entirely upon the telephone.

This decision had been formulated but had not been announced when in another case of similar nature the state supreme court ruled exactly the other way. Then the court of appeals certified its own decision to the supreme court in order to determine which should stand.

The supreme court held that though the court of appeals is bound to follow the decision previously rendered by the supreme court, it cannot be expected to drive those decisions before they are rendered. Therefore, a decision rendered by the court of appeals, not violating a previous decision by the supreme court, shall stand until set aside by the appellate court or the supreme court.

Philatelist Seeks Rare Confederate Stamps Here

William F. Cornell Owner of Autographs of Lee, Longstreet, Stonewall Jackson and Other Heroes of Lost Cause, Says That There Are Fortunes in the Faded Stamps on Old Letters Rotting in Atlanta Garrets

William F. Cornell, a member of the American Philatelic society and well known as collector of Confederate relics, was in the city for several days during the week and last week, making a search for rare Confederate stamps.

The 1861 provisional stamp was accompanied by the regular issue of Confederate stamps bearing Jefferson Davis' photograph.

"All of the provisional stamps are rare," said Mr. Cornell, "and are worth from $10 to $100 each. I have recently secured one of the rarest, a 1-cent stamp, which I found on the possession of Mrs. A. J. Smith, at 924 Peachtree street, and added it to his already fine collection."

Mr. Cornell's home is in Detroit, Mich. He is making a tour of the south on business and for the purpose of adding to his Confederate collection. From Atlanta he went to Birmingham Tuesday night.

"If the people in the south who have correspondence carried on during the war, would look through their garrets and old trunks and chests, they would be able to find many rare stamps for which there is a good market. The stamps should be left on the entire envelope, as they are more valuable that way than when removed."

Mr. Cornell, while in Richmond, Va., came across the letters exchanged in a wartime writing, and was able to secure thirty-one envelopes and stamps. In exchange he went through $50 worth of time letters.

The regular stamp issues of the Confederacy are not so valuable," said the collector, "and run from cents to $1 only."

Mr. Cornell possesses a complete collection of the regular issues, but still lacks many of the rare local stamps. His collection of Confederate autographs, maps, documents and papers is very interesting. He has a letter from Jefferson Davis, written just before the noted leader's death, giving him the address of Mr. Memminger.

He secured General Early and Stonewall Jackson in a rather humorous manner. He secured General Early's autograph in a letter to his son, in which the old general wrote: "I never see any autographs but I like them. Truly yours, James Longstreet." Despite its crudeness, the letter delighted the collector, for its signature furnished the autograph he was seeking.

One of Mr. Cornell's latest finds is a rare document of 1863, signed by Robert E. Lee, General Early and Stonewall Jackson.

He has also the autographs of Robert E. Lee, Joseph E. Johnston, Fitzhugh Lee, General Sherman, and among other things, possesses many slave contracts, Confederate officers' pay vouchers and other interesting reminders of the soldiers in gray.

In addition to Confederate autographs, Mr. Cornell's collection includes those of all the presidents of the United States and of many literary celebrities. Paul Hamilton Hayne, Henry W. Grady and Charles Egbert Smith are among the names.

Mr. Cornell is now looking for a Confederate half dollar which, he says, is very rare.

"It is not generally known," said the collector, "that the Confederate states issued a half dollar, which is exceedingly rare. I have seen only one, but understand another one is owned by an Atlanta collector."

Mr. Webb had been under treatment at Milton for several days before he suddenly succumbed, it is said.

THEATRES

(criticisms of initial performances at the local theatres are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theatre management.)

JOSEPHINE--Vandeville.
LYRIC--Ethel Williams in "A Man's Game."
GRAND--Kinscannon.
BIJOU--"The Man of Mystery."

Once in a while there comes to Atlanta an attraction that seems to stand out above all others as a dramatic gem—an attraction that every theatergoer in Atlanta should see, as for weeks afterward they will hear from their friends that the play was one of the best that they have seen in years. Such a one is the attraction that is being offered this week at the Lyric, in which Ethel Williams, the gifted actress, is presenting Owen David's play, "A Man's Game."

Miss Williams is a remarkably clever actress. She has the rare ability of dominating every scene in which she appears, and although she is surrounded by a splendid company, every member of which is really excellent, yet one remembers the work of Miss Williams above everything else. The scene in which she pleads with her husband for a divorce, to hold her in her arms, to hold the daughter's life again, is heart-rending. "A Man's Game" will be offered at the Lyric the entire week.

Good Judgment was shown by Jewell Kelly in the selection of "A Man of Mystery" for this week's play at the Bijou. As the title would suggest, there is considerable mystery in the play, mystery surrounding the life of Richard Glenwood, known as "the shadow," who although nursing in polite society, is really the head of a gang of notorious crooks, who gather nightly at the "devils' kitchen" to arrange their various robberies.

The attraction is remarkable for the prices charged and the performance as a whole is really clever. "A Man of Mystery" will be presented the entire week, with features every afternoon at 2:30 and night performances at 8:30.

Howard Reinold and his company, presenting "How Hoffman Did It," contribute a great deal this week to the success of the Biograph program. The sketch is entirely unusual in that there is no specialty either in music or novelty, but a straight legitimate comedy sketch that wins more laughter than any offering of the sort vaudeville has yet introduced.

This act is one of many hits on this bill. Madame Benson and her company, presenting the intensely dramatic offering, "The Woman Who Knew," is scoring an artistic success and the Brooks Hunt and her company offer twenty minutes of opera as good as any average singing feature that has been seen here.

The attendance proves that theatergoers have indulged the show, and there is very indication that all week will find the Forsyth crowded to its capacity.

DETENTION HOME TO BE MOVED VERY SOON

New Site on Trinity Avenue Will Make Possible Race Segregation

Officers of the children's court are making preparations for the removal of the juvenile detention home from 164 Central avenue to 34 Trinity avenue, the old Lynch home.

The new site will be occupied by October 1, and then a complete segregation of the races will be possible. White boys and girls and negro boys and girls are held at the detention home, and under present conditions it has been practically impossible to segregate them. At the new home, however, the first floor will be occupied entirely by negro prisoners. White girls will be incarcerated in a wing of the second floor, where the officers and court room will be, and white boys will occupy the third floor.

The position of matron is to be abolished, and Miss Margaret Laing, one of the probation officers, will have charge of the girls held in the home.

At the new home there is a large yard, where the young offenders can be given a great amount of exercise. Officer, B. B. Posey, of the children's court, has solved a question of jurisdiction, which has puzzled the court authorities. Several little boys, who reside in DeKalb county had been in mid-church in front of the Forsyth theater Tuesday evening Dr. L. C. Posey, however, is a police officer, and he doctored cases against them in the police court, where they were fined by the recorder, as the offense was committed in Atlanta if not Fulton county.

Auto Thefts

Two thefts of articles of small value from automobiles were reported to the police Wednesday morning. While his car was parked in front of the Forsyth theater Tuesday evening Dr. L. C. Posey, however, is a police officer, and he doctored cases against them in the police court, where they were fined by the recorder, as the offense was committed in Atlanta if not Fulton county.

A check was stolen from the machine of A. W. Roosevelt, of 62 Washington terrace, which was standing in front of the Majestic hotel, Tuesday night.

It's kitchen" to arrange their various robberies.

The attraction is remarkable for the prices charged and the performance as a whole is really clever. "A Man of Mystery" will be presented the entire week, with features every afternoon at 2:30 and night performances at 8:30.

Howard Reinold and his company, presenting "How Hoffman Did It," contribute a great deal this week to the success of the Biograph program. The sketch is entirely unusual in that there is no specialty either in music or novelty, but a straight legitimate comedy sketch that wins more laughter than any offering of the sort vaudeville has yet introduced.

This act is one of many hits on this bill. Madame Benson and her company, presenting the intensely dramatic offering, "The Woman Who Knew," is scoring an artistic success and the Brooks Hunt and her company offer twenty minutes of opera as good as any average singing feature that has been seen here.

The attendance proves that theatergoers have indulged the show, and there is very indication that all week will find the Forsyth crowded to its capacity.

SECRETARY COOK GETS READY FOR THE FAKERS

Prepares List of Queries Calculated to Quell Boldness of All "Sharks"

When the "blue sky" law of Georgia goes into effect on January 1, there is to be some waiting and gnashing of teeth among investment concerns which could not show now a clean bill of health. It would be easier for the proverbial camel to pass through the eye of the needle than for a fake company to pass muster (unless perjury is used) under the questions that Secretary of State Phil Cook has prepared for all of them to answer.

"I have studied the law and gotten expert opinion on it. The state attorney general has discussed it with me, and his holding is that the law clearly charges the secretary of state with full authority to investigate every applicant for certification under the law," said Mr. Cook Wednesday.

"The law authorizes every company to form a corporation and to be sufficient to enable intending purchasers to form a corporation and to make judgment of the value of the securities. I have been in correspondence for some time with authorities in other states where similar laws already are in effect, and I have drawn up a set of blanks which will be sent out all over the state when the law goes into effect."

"Mr. Cook exhibited a copy of the set of all of the information called for here to be furnished, or the application will be refused as insufficient," said he. "It must be sworn to, and if the statements are not satisfactory the dealer will be ordered not to offer his securities for sale in this state."

The nineteenth division of the blank requires the following information with regard to the officers and directors of each company. Their names, addresses, number of common and preferred shares and number of bonds they own, and the cash they have invested in the company. Their salary as officers and the estimated net worth of each individual, and the statement that each devotes to the affairs of the company. At least four references as to the character, responsibility and financial standing of each director are exacted, and eight references as to the company itself.

"This division will show up officers who get fat salaries for the mere use of their names," said the secretary. "Under it, too, there will be ground for investigation as to the business character of each man, and whether he has failed or succeeded in business. Each man's business character will be largely into the consideration of these applications."

The statement must be accompanied by sworn copies of all literature and advertising matter used by the company, of contracts, bonds or other securities that it desires to sell, and of all subscription blanks, and of all other blanks used in connection with the sale. The statement deals deeply into the affairs of the company, so that if a fake concern it stands small chance of approval.

"I hear some protest against the severity of these questions," said Mr. Cook. "But I have submitted them to some leading bankers of the state, and other whose opinions are impartial and sound, and they have endorsed them warmly. In fact, they are based upon established practices in other states. The law placed full responsibility upon me, and I intend to meet that responsibility to the best of my ability. I realize that if a shaky concern is admitted to registration, its officers

Negro Boy Tries
And Conquits Self

Mercer Roland, an eighteen-year-old negro boy, was among the thirty-and-odd prisoners who were arraigned before Judge Andy Culbertson, of the city criminal court, Wednesday morning.

"Mercer, what are you charged with?" asked his honor.

"(Squinting.) I was well explained for the benefit of the uninitiated, is a case of cards often played by negroes, and it receives its name from the fact that one of the negroes usually 'skins' his fellow-players out of their wester's wages."

"Guilty or not guilty?" Judge Culbertson asked the negro.

"I don't know, judge," replied Mercer.

"What's that?" queried the surprised jurist. "Don't you know whether or not you are guilty?"

"I don't know yet," said the black.

"Why don't you know?" asked Judge.

"Well, judge I don't know whether I am guilty or not because I haven't heard the evidence yet. I haven't been tried."

After the court had had a hearty laugh, the arraigning officer was requested to let Mercer hear the evidence in his case.

The policeman was still giving the details about the raid on the "skin" game, where Mercer was caught, when the negro interrupted, saying:

"I guess I'm guilty."

"Then you think the evidence against you is sufficient to warrant conviction?" the court said.

Mercer, grinning sheepishly for a reply, "Well," remarked the court. "You have judged of the evidence in the case and found yourself guilty, do you want to pass sentence on yourself?"

"Well, I will fine you $25 and costs," said the court, as he called the next trial.

could show the certificate of this office and say, 'The secretary of state has passed our company. We have complied with the law.' They could disarm the general public as to any reasonable suspicion. The people look to the secretary of state for protection under the law. Yet after all, I've got nothing to show them except the sworn statement that they present to me. Some shaky concern may slip through this office, but not if I can prevent it."

To each applicant whose statement is accepted, the secretary of state will issue a receipt acknowledging that the concern has filed in accordance with a law a detailed statement regarding its law and its securities. The statement is on file in his office for the use of state in no wise recommends the above named securities."

On January 1, when the law becomes effective, every one of the companies affected by it in Georgia must stop the business until the statement has been accepted and filed. "I am going to make up the statements in the order in which they are filed with me," said Mr. Cook. "He doubts whether it would be legal for any statement to be filed after the state has accepted the statement. A new one may be exacted at any time by the secretary of state."

The state authorities of Kansas inform me that they have not found it necessary to turn down many applications under their own law, for the reason that a close number of the weak and fake concerns pulled up stakes and left before the law went into effect. They tell me that 1,000 companies left that state in great haste. The law at least 1,000 companies in Georgia that must stand or fall under our own law. It would be impossible to surmise how many of them will attempt to equalize, I think a great many of them will not."

GENERAL EVANS LAUDS
GEORGIA'S RIFLEMEN

Returns From Camp Perry and Says That State's Team Did Itself Proud

On his return from Camp Perry, Ohio, where he was executive officer of the national and international shooting tournament, Brigadier General Robert K. Evans has nothing but praise for the manner in which the Georgia militia there acquitted itself. The general was at his desk in the headquarters of the Second Brigade of the first division Monday morning after a long absence, conducting an inspection trip and later his stay at the famous rifle and pistol ranges.

"The Georgia boys," said General Evans, "acquitted themselves most admirably and proved to be excellent marksmen. The Georgia team was offered in the various matches and they acquitted their share of them. As executive officer, his presence on the range was necessary at all times, which meant he was almost continually on the go from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m."

In speaking of the two casualties that occurred during the matches, General Evans said that "any one had been killed. The first fatality," continued the general, "happened when a Peruvian aimed the proverbially unloaded gun and pulled the trigger. The missile crashed through a tent and one of the foreigner's own countrymen dropped dead. The only other killing is still as great a mystery as it was when the tragedy happened, and this time it was an American who fell. He was scoring in a house and standing behind the marksmen who were shooting out of the windows when a stray 22-caliber bullet from somewhere struck him in the right hip, ranging upward through the intestines and lodged in the opposite side. He died twenty-four or thirty-six hours afterwards."

POLICE NOW HAVE NEW VEHICLE FOR PATRONS

New Patrol Delivered to Department Monday—Plano Tuner First to Use It

The new police patrol, delivered to the department Monday morning, was put in active service Tuesday morning. Chief Beavers immediately assured patrons of his department that he was in a position to give them the double advantage of being arrested.

The new "wagon" is a White car, with a steering wheel on the left side, and is also an emergency ambulance and can be used in emergencies to carry patients to medical aid. It has a heater which is connected with the exhaust and is lined with sheet steel inside and out. It also looks from the inside, so any one on the interior has to wait until the left hand side before being able to see out.

R. Leslie Reed, a piano tuner, has the distinction of being the first person to ride in the new patrol. He was arrested at 10th and Marietta streets by Detectives Tuesday morning on a charge of "collecting alone." He did not appreciate the honor, he said, reporters at the police station.

ELECTRICIAN TURNER
GETS HIS AUTOMOBILE

With $750 Given Him by Council, He Succeeded in Buying a $1,000 Car

City Electrician R. C. Turner has quit walking and gone to riding in an automobile. Recently the general council, being convinced that he could serve the city better if he had better facilities for getting around, appropriated $750 to buy him an automobile.

He and Councilman Clarence Harvey, chairman of the committee on electrical affairs, made a tour of the various agencies.

"And when it was over," says Turner, "I had a $1,000 car for $750. The public people being anxious to get one of their cars in the city service, made us a special price."

The model purchased by Turner is a

"ARSON SQUAD" TRIES TO BURN HISTORIC HOUSE

Those Sleeping in Great 14th Century Mansion Have Narrow Escape

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Sept. 17.—A suffragette "arson squad" early today tried to burn Penshurst Place, the historic fourteenth century seat of Lord De Lisle and Duke of Rutland, Kent.

The inmates of the great mansion, awakened by the crackling of wood and by clouds of smoke, found the framework of several windows ablaze. House-hold employees succeeded in extinguishing the flames.

Two women were seen fleeing across the lawn in front of the building and suffragette literature was scattered about the grounds.

Great indignation prevails among the neighboring residents, as it is known that the place, formerly opened to visitors, will be closed.

The mansion is a treasure house filled with unique antiques, old tapestries and articles left there by Queen Elizabeth, who frequently occupied the house during her reign. The art galleries contain some of the most valuable Van Dykes and Holbeins in England.

The New Silk Dresses

At $11.98 $16.95, $19.75 and $25.00

Dresses that come in for much service these early Fall days.

Materials are poplins, crepe de chine, Canton crepes and chameuse—but the material is only one of the charms. You will marvel at the varied—and, in every instance graceful ways that the skirts are draped, at the daring of the genius in the combination of colors shown in sashes, girdles and big bows at the front waist and thin and chignons set off with tiny bows.

New Skirts

At $6.50, $7.98, $8.75, $11.98

Their vogue is pronounced—that is the vogue for such skirts you will see here—in New York, it amounts to a rage.

They are smart—the "Scotchiest" of Scotch plaids are used, with soft tuck down colors showing dark green, navy, purple and dark red in wonderfully effective combinations and thin matelasses are used. The models are draped and some are very wide in the hips, all with round waist line.

At 48c	$1.00 $1.25 and $1.50 Aprons—white, several styles, daintily trimmed, they are 48c because they are a bit soiled.
At 49c	$1.00 and $1.25 Brassieres—lace and embroidery trimmed. So priced because they are an odd surplus.

The New Woolen Dresses

At $5.75, $10, $15 to $25

A display calculated to meet all demands the women of Atlanta could make.

It begins by showing at $5.75, little serge dresses that the college young Miss will need for general wear, rather simple and very neatly made. Now comes the epouges, Matlases and wool crepes in navy Copenhagen, Russian and olive green, mohogany and black and new trimming ideas that shows in sashes, collars, yokes and the new lines—skirts very wide around the hips, and narrow at the bottom. All are draped.

New Coats

At $10.00, $12.50 and $15.00

The especially fine coat news today must concern NEW short coats.

They are in a word jaunty. Young folk will like them. Boxy affairs that in length, strike just above the knees.

They are worked out in chinchilla, polo cloth and loose bouquets—big collars, some are belted. India red, Russian green, Arab and Copenhagen are the favored colors.

Atlanta will quickly adopt them now.

OUR ASTROLOGER

"The Stars incline, but do not compel."

HOMOSCOPE.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1913.

Now Venus smiles.

And love beguiles.

A favorable day, especially for all who court and marry, the astrologers declare.

Venus is in an aspect read as especially lucky for lovers, since the influence tends to uplift and to inspire those who are sensitive to planetary vibration.

The planet, which rules the arts as well as the hearts, occupies a place in relation to Saturn, which makes the day appear to the seers as one of brilliant fortune.

The fair promise of the day is to actors, singers and writers, who should be able to make good use of their gifts while the configuration lasts.

The government is auspicious for romances signed and new buildings begun today have an encouraging promise, which foretells success and satisfaction.

All refined entertainments are under a lucky omen. Theatrical enterprises should be successful, although there is an augury of many failures for new plays. A foreign actress will win fame before winter, it is forecast.

There is a prediction that New York will be the center of a political upheaval. Unexpected elements will enter into partisan contests with embarrasing results to national organizations, the seers say.

Ancient household lore held conditions similar to those which prevail today as good or many household occupations. Baking especially is mentioned as lucky on this date.

Among those who should be benefited today are dealers in real estate, coal merchants, all who work at night and all who are engaged in laborious employments, metal workers, tax collectors, stove makers, bricklayers and plumbers.

Persons whose birthdate it is are likely to have a serene and happy year. In both business and domestic affairs prosperity is foretold.

Children born on the date should be strong in mind and character, industrious and persevering. They have an augury of success. As subjects of Virgo with Mercury as their ruling planet, they should be gifted with talents, which they will use wisely.

Our shelves are open to every worthy corset coming from manufacturers of reputation.

We have no obligations, therefore no handicap in buying the very choicest corsets, and in offering our patrons the very broadest opportunity for selecting the suitable corset from our stock.

The corset business is advancing every day. Today it is an art. The right sort, a necessity.

The proper fitting of the corset, the individual choosing according to the figure, is even more important than your fashionable gowns. It is emphatically essential that the corset has the first fitting. Otherwise your good gown may fall short of its intended good lines.

If your figure is improved by the Mme. Mariette, that is the corset we fit you in, carrying every model of fashionable lines in stock; if the softer lines of the Regalite suit you best, this is your corset. And so it is with the lace front La Camille, the C. B. and the B. & J.

Certainly such splendid variety as these well known makes would give a wonderful advantage in the selection of the correct corset model for your figure.

La Camille

The Front-Lace Corset With the "Ventilo" Back

The La Camille is the lace front corset we have adopted after considering various good ones. In doing so we reckoned with the best features offered. One of greatest importance is the "Ventilo" back, which is an elimination of the pressure on the delicate nerves of the spine, permits of a necessary circulation of air and at the same time furnishes a rigid support to the back.

We give special and professional fittings to all corsets sold.

Our New Negligee Department
Trousseau a Specialty

We have recently added a great elegance to our corset department in the accession of fine negligee apparel.

Let us show you these:

Crepe and Silk Negligees and Tea Gowns, with petticoats and boudoir cap to match.

Beautiful laces and delicate shades of crepe create most fascinating effects for Boudoir wear.

Artistic gowns of deeper tone for home entertaining are very new. Smartest imported wear in the line. Bridal wear a specialty.

th Takes Huerta's Statement Defied in and That Ships Still Patrol
Mexic Waters

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—American battleships probably will remain in Mexican waters despite General Huerta's declaration that they will be unwelcome after another month. There was no official expression of this government's attitude today, but it was plainly indicated that the United States will keep its vessels off the Mexican Pacific coast and Atlantic coast as long as the present insecurity of American warrants.

_____ pointed out that in international

the city had of supplying

“entail an attack upon the dignity and sovereignty of Mexico,” but further stated that in no way would the Wilson administration will accept details from Huerta as to the circumstances in which American vessels may lie off the Mexican coast.

members of the Georgia Woman's Suffrage association in a campaign against the 1890 constitution and its provisions for the legislature, who are opposed to man's suffrage.

James Lee Laidlaw, of New York president of the National Men's league, has named Leonard J. Grossman, 210-2nd St., N. E., Atlanta, as the local organizer for the men's league, and is actively at work, having already sent out several thousands of cards asking the voters of the state to enroll the same.

The men's league, now has approxmentally 200 members, and Mr. Grossman expects a membership of more than 1,000 within a few months.

Members of the two organizations are planning to campaign "votes for the women of Georgia," St. Senator Stark, of the Thirty-fourth district, who led the opposition to the favoring of women's rights in the Georgia constitution, will be one of the men on whom the suffragists center their fire, and a determined effort is to be made to prevent his taking a seat again.

Stark is one of the plans of cam-

Smith pointed out every candidate for the legislature is to be interviewed on his position on women's job and circumstances. The first night for a hearing will accordingly be inaugurated by the two leagues, one composed of men, who want the ballot, and another of women, who want to give them.

In addition, the organizations plan to hold a demonstration in the winter, which will probably bring Atlanta many people prominent in the suffrage movement.
